

Unimarconi
LA PRIMA UNIVERSITÀ
DIGITALE ITALIANA

Digitalization of Welfare in India

Venue:

Sala Giulio Cesare, Via Vittoria Colonna 11, Roma.
Università degli Studi Guglielmo Marconi

Tuesday 22 October 2024 03:30 p.m.

The use of digital technologies in India's welfare programmes has increased significantly over the past two decades. To what extent has it increased efficiency of implementation, reduced corruption, enhanced inclusion, increased transparency? The talk by Prof. Reetika Khera (Professor of Economics at Indian Institute of Technology Delhi) will be an introduction to these issues and related issues, based on the speaker's work primarily, but not exclusively, in rural India.

Welcome Remarks

Michela Matarazzo

Head of the Department of Economic and Business Sciences, and Professor of International Marketing and Management, Università degli Studi Guglielmo Marconi

Francesco Gaspari

Delegate of the Rector for International Relations and Professor of Administrative Law, Università degli Studi Guglielmo Marconi

Speaker

Reetika Khera

Professor of Economics, Indian Institute of Technology Delhi (IITD)

Chair

Fabrizio Botti

Professor of Economics, Università degli Studi Guglielmo Marconi

Q&A Session

It will be possible to follow the event in live streaming: <https://usgm.link/digitalizationwelfareindia>